Each year since 1947, the Sacramento Buddhist Church has hosted the Annual Summer Bazaar. More than 750 members and friends host the annual event for an estimated 50,000 guests during the second weekend in August.

The two-day event has been featured in Sacramento Magazine, Sacramento Bee, Sacramento News and Review and various other travel publications as a Sacramento region summer festival featuring Japanese cultural exhibits, displays, demonstrations and food.

Members and friends of the Sacramento Buddhist Church consider the Bazaar a community event that celebrates the homecoming and reunion of family and friends.

Proceeds from the Bazaar support the Sacramento Buddhist Church and its affiliated and sponsored organizations such as youth sports programs, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, youth groups, adult and senior groups and many other church activities within the community.
